KIDS COUNT IN GRUNDY COUNTY

Child population

Strong communities offer pathways to opportunity to every family and child. Families of color have faced, and still face, discrimination that limits their opportunities. As Iowa becomes more diverse, helping every family — of every race — support their children is ever more important.

Wages

Iowa families are working hard, but wages have not kept up with costs and productivity. All workers, especially those with children, must earn well above the minimum wage to meet even a bare-bones budget.

The roots of lifelong health start before birth. Iowa babies — and their moms — need access to high-quality health care that sets them up for a strong start.

Child care

Working parents rely on reliable, affordable child care to provide for their families, grow in their careers and contribute to their communities and Iowa's economic growth. It's out of reach for too many Iowa families.

Education

A state that values advancing opportunity for all its children is one that invests — in word, deed and dollars — in their education. The vast majority of Iowa children attend public schools that are obligated to serve all children.
